Attorneys for Plaintiff SETH D. HARRIS,
Acting Secretary of Labor, United States Department of Labor

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT FOR THE CENTRAL DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA

SETH D. HARRIS , Acting Secretary,)	Case No. EDCV12-1648-

)	RESPONSE TO
v.)	GREATBANC'S
)	STATEMENT OF
GREATBANC TRUST COMPANY,)	RECENT DECISION

In its Statement of Recent Decision, Dkt. No. 34, Defendant GreatBanc Trust Company ("GreatBanc") seeks to bring to the Court's attention an opinion from another jurisdiction that purportedly supports its motion to dismiss. That decision is irrelevant and, if anything, supports the Secretary's position.

1 In his Second Claim for Relief, the Secretary asserts that the
2 indemnification agreement between Defendant Sierra Aluminum Company
3 ("Sierra") and GreatBanc is void under ERISA § 410(a), 29 U.S.C. § 1110(a),
4 and the Secretary's regulation interpreting it, 29 C.F.R. § 2509.75-4. As the 5 Secretary explained in opposition to Defendants' motions to dismiss, § 410(a)
6 broadly prohibits agreements that purport to relieve fiduciaries of liability for 7 their fiduciary duties; only fiduciary liability insurance is exempted. See 29
8 U.S.C. § 1110(a). While the Department of Labor's regulation states that § 9 410(a) also exempts indemnification agreements that operate "in the same
10 manner as insurance," the Department has made clear that this 11 indemnification exemption does not extend to "arrangement[s] for 12 indemnification of a fiduciary of an employee benefit plan by the plan," 13 which plainly violate § 410(a). 29 C.F.R. § 2509.75-4. Because the Sierra
14 Aluminum Employee Stock Ownership Plan (the "ESOP") is the 100%
15 shareholder of Sierra – meaning that any indemnification that Sierra pays to 16 GreatBanc would necessarily be borne by the ESOP – the Secretary alleges
17 that the indemnification agreement violates § 410(a) and 29 C.F.R. §
18 2509.75-4.

19 The indemnification agreement at issue in the decision that GreatBanc
20 now brings to the Court's attention is very different. Unlike the agreement
21 here, the indemnification agreement in Schafer v. Multiband Corp., No. 12-
22 13152, 2013 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 22057 (E.D. Mich. Feb. 19, 2013), did not 23 obligate an ESOP-owned company to indemnify its fiduciary. Rather, the 24 indemnification agreement in Schafer – as described by the parties
25 themselves – was one "between a former fiduciary to an ESOP, on one hand, 26 and a third-party stranger to the ESOP, on the other." Id. at *12-13. The 27 court thus had no trouble concluding that the agreement did not violate either
28 § 410(a) or 29 C.F.R. § 2509.75-4, which permit indemnification agreements

1 between fiduciaries and third parties. Here, in contrast, the agreement is not
2 between an ESOP fiduciary and a mere third party "stranger to the ESOP,"
3 Schafer, 2013 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 22057, at *12-13, but rather between a
4 fiduciary (GreatBanc) and a company whose sole shareholder is an ESOP, in 5 blatant violation of § 410(a) and 29 C.F.R. § 2509.75-4. At best, then,
6 Schafer is irrelevant and of no assistance to Defendants.

7 If anything, Schafer provides even further reason to deny Defendants'
8 motions to dismiss. In vacating the arbitrator's decision finding that § 410(a)
9 prohibits all indemnification agreements involving an ERISA fiduciary, no
10 matter the counterparty, the court in Schafer invoked the Department's 11 interpretative bulletin, 29 C.F.R. § 2509.75-4, which the Department issued 12 "a year after [ERISA's] enactment," and which has "been the department's 13 position ever since." Schafer, 2013 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 22057, at *22. The 14 court reasoned that the arbitrator's blanket prohibition on indemnification
15 agreements contradicts 29 C.F.R. § 2509.75-4, which clearly permits certain 16 types of indemnification agreements – specifically, those that operate in the 17 same manner as insurance. Schafer, 2013 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 22057, at *22.
18 The Secretary's Second Claim for Relief in this case likewise relies on §
19 2509.75-4, which just as clearly prohibits agreements that require ERISA
20 plans to indemnify their fiduciaries, as the Sierra/GreatBanc agreement
21 effectively does. Applying the same level of deference to § 2509.75-4 as the 22 court applied in Schafer would result in entry of judgment in favor of the 23 Secretary on his Second Claim for Relief, not its dismissal.
